AGATA BEBECKA

Agata was born in Poland (1981) where she studied at the European Academy of Arts until she came to NY and completed her degree at the much more progressive but only half as fun School of Visual Arts. She currently lives, works and plays in Brooklyn where she is very happy. The secret of her work is that she never knows what she is going to draw until she's drawing it. Though quite morbid in her inspirations, her style is surprisingly whimsical - even to herself! She sometimes dreams of killing her cats...but only when she's hungry.
