

COLORIFIC! We Make An Art Rainbow

Organized by Paulina Bebecka
July 15 - August 19, 2011

Lets not fool ourselves, sometimes great art is acquired because the interior designer needs "something pink."

Last year after the bookshelves in my house gave way, Rocio Fernandez – beloved fixer of our messes – restocked the new shelves according to size. It resulted in wavy patterns and some extraordinary juxtapositions and groupings: Stieg Larsson met Russian Costructivists, Witold Gombrowicz met Arthur Schopenhauer, and a sequence of La Peinture Française au Musée Pouchkine, French Bulldog Breed Manual, and Collected Writings of Marquis de Sade was formed.

"Colorific," Postmasters' summer group show, attempts to mimic this experience with the artworks of gallery artists and friendly guests installed salon-style according to color wheel (front gallery) and grayscale (second gallery).

In the age of indexing, databases, and randomizers as organizing principles (good) and shoe-and-handbag coordination (not so good) we make an art rainbow.

red-orange-yellow-green-blue-purple

No art was harmed in this exercise, and, like on the bookshelves, some great encounters take place. Plus we make it easy on those decorators.

Magda Sawon

participating artists:

Agata Bebecka
Jason Robert Bell
Guy Ben-Ner
Monica Cook
Diana Cooper
Adam Cvijanovic
Oskar Dawicki
David Diao
Rainer Ganahl

Anthony Goicolea
David Herbert
Kenneth Tin-Kin Hung
Mary Kelly
Katarzyna Kozyra
Kristin Lucas
Michelle Matson
Eva and Franco Mattes
(aka 0100101110101101.org)

Jennifer and Kevin McCoy
Steve Mumford
David Nyzio
William Powhida
Sally Smart
Sarah Smizz
Wolfgang Staehle
Chris Verene

