One-Line Reviews: Pithy Takes On Shows Shows By Ali Kazma, Lin Tianmiao And More

5 / 11

Jennifer and Kevin McCoy, "Twenty One Twelve," Postmasters, 459 West 19th Street, through December 15

Though ostensibly set a century in the future, the McCoy's' ominous and dystopic miniature landscapes, embedded with glitchy video art and real-time camera loops, come seem at all preachy, and are maybe best framed as eerily prescient Hurricane Sandy art. — Benjamin Sutton
